A letter from the Chief of Police

*To students, faculty, staff,
and visitors of California
State University, Long Beach:*

It is our goal at the University Police Department to serve you in an exemplary and professional manner. We are interested in your opinion on how we can be of better service to you. We welcome all suggestions, constructive criticism, complaints or commendations you may have regarding either procedures or personnel. All suggestions will be studied and given consideration. All complaints will be investigated thoroughly and appropriate corrective action taken when warranted. Commendations will be included in the evaluations of the department member and shared with the staff as appropriate.

If you wish to submit a commendation, suggestion, or complaint, you may come to the University Police Department or call (562) 985-4101. If you would prefer to communicate this information directly with me, please complete this form. Provide as much detail as possible, fold, and mail this form. (You should also know that anonymous complaints will be investigated as well.) We appreciate your comments, as they assist us in providing the highest quality service to the members of our community.

Sincerely,

John Brockie

You have the right to make a complaint against a police officer for any improper police conduct. California law requires this agency to have a procedure to investigate citizens' complaints. You have a right to a written description of this procedure. This agency may find after investigation that there is not enough evidence to warrant action on your complaint; even if that is the case, you have the right to make the complaint and have it investigated if you believe an officer behaved improperly. Citizen complaints and any reports or findings relating to complaints must be retained by this agency for at least five years.

It is against the law to make a complaint that you know to be false. If you make a complaint against an officer knowing that it is false, you can be prosecuted on a misdemeanor charge.

I have read and understood the above statement.
