KENNA MENO
(SENIOR RESEARCH ASSISTANT)

My name is Kenna Meno and I am currently a graduate Linguistics student and a research assistant at the COHABIT PsyLing Lab under the supervision of Dr. Giulia Togato. As a research assistant, I help to recruit, schedule and run experiments with participants as well as coordinate various administrative tasks with other research assistants and our primary investigator.

I am currently preparing to enter my graduate studies. It is my goal to obtain my Ph.D. in Linguistics with a special focus in neurolinguistics/psycholinguistics, language acquisition and cognitive sciences. I chose the COHABIT PsyLing Lab due to my strong interest in understanding the complexities of the human brain and language. I aim to understand not only the who and what, but also the how and why.
